PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

A relationship-driven commercial professional with a Master's in Management (Logistics & Supply Chain specialization) and hands-on experience across Amazon 3P account management, e-commerce operations at Decathlon Taiwan, and premium client relationship management at Singapore Airlines. Combines supply chain fluency with a track record of building trust under pressure, from growing U.S. brand accounts to resolving complex service situations for high-value clients. Singapore-based, bilingual in Mandarin and English, with resilience and cross-cultural communication skills sharpened through balancing full-time flight duties with graduate studies.

Independent Field Research

Taiwan Food Delivery Market

Singapore

Self-initiated Project

May 2026 – Present

- Conducted independent field research with food merchants and delivery riders across Taiwan to identify account-level pain points and opportunities to strengthen merchant-platform relationships during a major industry acquisition.
- Assessed commission structures, dispute-resolution mechanisms, and regional demand patterns to understand factors influencing merchant satisfaction, retention, and platform economics.
- Combined frontline stakeholder insights with financial analysis of GMV, EBITDA, and segment margins to validate observations and evaluate commercial implications.
- Developed a first-90-days action framework with recommendations for merchant engagement, issue resolution, and underserved account segments. The research gained recognition from a C-level executive, who subsequently referred the work to relevant internally.
